INDEX

TO THE

TWENTY-FIRST VOLUME

OF THE

Weekly Entertainer.

A.

ADVERTISER, a curious, 472.

Africa, in 1792, intereſting communications of the ſociety for diſcovering the interior parts of that country, 60.

Agricultural reports for February, 244. March, 338. April, 457. May, 562.

Alexander the Great, Dr. Robertſon's account of his expedition to India, 294.

American Indians, Bartram's account of their dreſs, feaſts, and diverſions, 11.

Anagrams, 44, 93, 116, 213, 332, 525, 573. Anſwers to, 20, 139, 236, 260, 284, 357, 524.

Anecdote of Dr. Oldfield, 17. Dr. Samuel Johnſon, 63, 88, 108, 162. a military, 89. of a Welch curate, 90. of a man who ſold his wife, 133. of Mr. Garrick, 162. of Peter the Great, 185. of Madame de la Valliere, the penitent miſtreſs of Louis XIV. 222. of Pepin, King of France, 258. reſpecting a bridge in Scotland, 276. of the ſiege of Liſle, 277. of the uſe of cyphers, ibid. of Menedemus, a Greek philoſopher, ibid. of Marſhal Catinat, 277. of Louis XV. and his courtiers, 307. of George II. 328. of a Roman lady, 329. of the pride of Iriſh gentry, 385. of Henry IV. of France, 402. of Madame Pompadour, 403. of Mrs. Thrale, ibid. a ſporting one, 471. of the aſs laden with preferment, 498. of two Engliſh ſtudents at Douai, and the Duke of York, 588.

Anecdotes of the late Earl of Chatham, 37. of ſkilful archers, 64. of the ruling paſſion, 258. of Dr. Johnſon, 282. intereſting ones of the origin of the American war, 427. of the late Duke of Somerſet, 594.

Antient tenure, ſingular one in the manor of Seaborough, 377.

B.

Banbury, Earl of, ſingular circumſtances relative to the title of, 391.

Bankruptcies, on the numerous, 567.

Barbariſms, colloquial, 51.

Barrymore, Earl of, ſome account of that eccentric character, 463, 485, 517, 530, 563.

Beejanuggar, account of that city, ſituate on the northern frontier frontier of Tippoo Sultan's territory, 299.

Bee's tongue, Mr. Hunter's account of its complex ſtructure, 436.
Bon mot, genuine one of a threſher, 133.
Bridgewater, Duke of, a view of his canal, with an account of Mancheſter, and the cotton trade, 249.
Brute creation, on mercy to the, 446, 468.
Buller, Sir Francis, his charge to the Yorkſhire Grand Jury, March 19, 1793, 373.

C.

Canals, Dr. Hawes's advice to the proprietors of them, tending to ſave the lives of thoſe employed thereon, or others who may be drowned therein, 515.
Canary, elegiac epitaph on one, written by a ſchool-boy, 235.
Candlemas, Mr. Page's account of the manner in which the feaſt of Candlemas is obſerved in South America, 330.
Converſion, account of an extraordinary, 206.
Character, an excellent, 109.
Charades, 20, 117, 189, 213, 285, 381, 404, 405, 429, 476, 525, 573. Anſwers to, 68, 92, 116, 140, 212, 259, 284, 429, 476, 499, 524, 572, 596.
Church of the Reſurrection in Jeruſalem, Mariti's account of the, 305.
Churchwardens, inſtitution of, 377.
Coryate, Mr. Thomas, account of that ſingular character, 421, 433, 458.
Cranborne Chace, particulars relative to, 49, 83.

D.

Determination, a good, 571.
Domeſtic advice, 402.
Dumourier, ſhort account of that General, 306. his addreſs to the French nation, 367.

E.

Engliſh cuſtom, explanation of an antient, 255.
Enigmas, 21, 69, 117, 141, 164, 237, 260, 307, 333, 381, 405, 453, 477, 500, 548, 572, 597. Anſwers to, 68, 92, 164, 212, 284, 332, 404, 452, 548.
European politics, general review of, 25, 133, 223, 343, 439, 355.
Excuſes, how to make, 352.

F.

Fact, a ſingular, 19.
Failures, thoughts on the cauſes of the late, 505, 539.
Fall of rain, account of a remarkable one in Scotland, 184.
Fox, Mr. Smellie's account of the, 61.
Fox, Right Hon. C. J. his reaſons for oppoſing a war with France, 244.
French clergy, intereſting letter concerning the eſtabliſhment of them in his Majeſty's Houſe at Wincheſter, addreſſed by Thomas Bowdler, Eſq. to Earl Bathurſt, 246. copy of an inſcription placed at Wincheſter by the French clergy, in teſtimony of their gratitude to the Engliſh nation, 568.
French inns, obſervations on the, by A. Young, Eſq. F. R. S. 278.
Frend, trial of the Rev. William, 553.

G.

God, on his wiſdom in the works of the creation, 1.
Grievance, a real, 172.
Guillotine, ſhort account of the, 125.
Gunpowder, remark on the diſcovery of the, 499.

Gypſum, account of the earth ſo called, with its extraordinary effect as a manure, 399.

H.

Hay-maker, the, a tale, 111.
Hebrew language, Wakefield's remarks on the ſtudy of the, 52.
Highland compliment, 31.
Hinzuan or Johanna, remarks on the iſland of, by Sir William Jones, 318, 339, 361.

I.

Ingratitude, affecting inſtance of, 89.
Intoxication, melancholy inſtance of the ſhocking effects of, 547.

K.

Kleiſt, E. C. de, memoirs of that celebrated German military poet, 41.
Knowledge, learning, and taſte, hiſtory of the ſtate of, in Great Britain, during the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Part III. 4, 32, 53, 103, 126.
Koriacs, M. de Leſſep's curious account of their cuſtoms and manners, 391, 409.

L.

Lady, ſingular fortitude of a young one, 3.
Languedoc canal, account of, 58.
Lloyd, General, Mr. Drummond's account of him, 321.
Louis XII. King of France, excellent character of, 258.
Louis XVI. copy of the affecting will of the late unfortunate, 180.

M.

Macdonald, Sir Archibald, his addreſs to the gentlemen of the jury who brought in Thomas Paine guilty of a libel, in publiſhing "The ſecond Part of the Rights of Man," delivered on the 18th of December, 1792, 97.
Mad dog, remedy for the bite of a, 183.
Magnetic mountain of Cannay, Mr. Dempſter's account of, 329.
Mansfield, ſhort account of the late Earl of, 292. ſubſtance of his will, 378. epitaph on, 380.
Married, a hint to the, 211.
Mathematical learning, panegyric on, by Mr. Wakefield, 62.
Melmoth, William, Eſq. account of his life, being the tleman who wrote that excellent book, "The great Importance of a Religious Life," 113.
Middle ages, account of ſome curious inſtitutions in the, 289.
Militia, advice to a young officer in the, 268.
Modern manners, on the affectation of, by the Rev. S. Olive-Branch, 217.
Mortmain, origin of the ſtatute of, 210.

N.

Natural curioſity, account of one in Scotland, 43.

P.

Paris, Mr. Twiſs's account of the tragical events which happened there Auguſt 10, 1792, 251, 273.
Patriotiſm, on, 323, 349.
Phyſician, curious remark of one, 3.
Pont-y-pridd bridge, deſcription of that beautiful one acroſs the Taaffe, 433.
Poor rates, obſervations on the, 472.
Prayer, an admirable, 517.
Prize epigram at Cambridge, July 7, 1789, 331.
Proteſtant church, Mr. Flowers's account of the opening of one at Languedoc, in France, ſoon after the French Revolution, 65.

Providential

Providential deliverance, extraordinary hiſtory of one, 56.

Q.

Quakers, their yearly epiſtle, 592.
Queen's birth-day, account of the ceremonies obſerved at St. James's in honour of the, 73.
Query, a, 189.
Queſtions, 44, 93, 115, 141, 212, 260, 357, 429, 453, 500, 573. Anſwers to, 67, 187, 236, 283, 403, 428, 475, 523, 572, 595.

R.

Rebuſſes, 20, 44, 93, 116, 140, 189, 237, 285, 357, 381, 453, 477, 500, 525, 548, 573. Anſwers to, 19, 43, 91, 139, 163, 188, 260, 283, 284, 404, 428, 429, 476, 500, 524.
Reflections, 115, 211, 233.
Religion, on the differences in, by the Rev. Mr. Pyle, 179.
Remark, a juſt and ſeaſonable, 420.
Rights of man, the, 90.
Ruſſel, extraordinary hiſtory of a perſon of that name, who was buried at Streatham, 156.

S.

School of Negroes at Philadelphia, intereſting account of, by M. Briſſot de Warville, 265.
Selico, an African tale, from the French of M. Florian, 481, 534.
Sheep, remedy for a diſeaſe incident to, 186.
Sneezing, remarks on, 193.
Storm, account of a violent one which happened in Scotland, in 1633, 115.
Sympathetic ink, 498.

T.

Thickneſſe, Philip, Eſq. copy of the inſcription on his tomb-ſtone, put up at Boulogne, in France, 299.
Tobago, further particulars of the attack upon, and the ſtorming of Fort Caſtries, now Fort George, dated from Tobago, April 16, 1792, 586.
Topſham, account of the proceſſion made by the loyal inhabitants of that place, on Tueſday, January 22, 1793, to expreſs their attachment to our gracious Sovereign King George III. and the preſent happy conſtitution of this realm, 159.
Trials, intereſting, 212, 234, 241, 279, 327, 384, 494, 577.

V.

Verſes. Occaſional prologue, ſpoken to the play of Timon of Athens, performed by the young gentlemen of Mr. Weatherdon's boarding-ſchool in Newton-Abbot, on Tueſday December 4, 1792, 22. on time, 24. ode for the new year, 1793, by H. J. Pye, Eſq. Poet-Laureat, 45. lines written by Mr. Halloran, maſter of Alphington Academy, near Exeter, and recited by Maſter Richard Ellicombe, one of the pupils at that academy, before a numerous and polite audience, on December 20, 1792, 46. elegy written in the Iſle of Wight, 70. ode to candour, by Dr. Downman, 71. advice to the Engliſh orator, by Mr. Polwhele, 72. tranſlation of verſes written in old French, by Mary Queen of Scots, on the death of her huſband, Francis the Second, of France, 94. the happy man, 96. curious anecdote of a pariſh clerk, ibid. tranſlation from Petrarch, by W. Parſons, Eſq. F. R. S. 118. ſtanzas to time, by Mrs. Robinſon, 120. King, liberty, laws, a new ſong, 142. Philemon, an elegy, 144. lines written on the door of a hermitage, 144. ode to hope, by by G. Headford, of Wellington, 166. elegy to pity, 167. ode to Leſbia's lute, 168. verſes to Delia, by Scriblerus, of Topſham, ibid. ode to ſtupidity, by Mr. Hole, 190. on modeſty, 191. on liberty, 192. lines inſcribed to the maſter of the happieſt cottage in England, 214. a ſong on the times, 215. to innocence, by Peter Pindar, Eſq. 216. on the beauties of ſpring, ſummer, and autumn, 238. lines written on viſiting the ruins of Dunkeſwell Abbey, in Devonſhire, by Miſs Hunt, 239. ſonnet to his infant daughter Maria, by the Rev. Mr. Polwhele, 240. intereſting ſtanzas on the death of Louis the Sixteenth, by J. H. of Wincanton, 262. the captive King, by Dr. Wolcott, 263. charity, by J. S. of Warminſter, 264. epitaph on a ſoldier of the name of Prior, ibid. hymns to the light, 286. elegiac ſonnet, 288. the primroſe, a fable, by Mrs. Moody, 308. to Cynthia, 312. an ode inſcribed to Miſs L. H. on her ſaying, "ſhe did not intend to come ſoon on a viſit again," at a place where ſhe had been remarkably agreeable, 334. to my candle, by Peter Pindar, Eſq. 335. the bluſh of ſimplicity, 336. lines ſent to an amiable young lady, with a copy of Bp. Lowth's Engliſh Grammar, ibid. reflections upon hearing the bell toll for the death of a friend, 358. tranſlation of Mr. Gray's celebrated Alcaic ode on the Chartreuſe, by Mr. Holder, 359. epitaph for a remarkable country pariſh clerk, 360. great and free, a new ſong, by Numa, 382. on a red-breaſt, which had built its neſt in the King's School, Cheſter, by one of the ſcholars, 383. on ſpring, 384. epitaph in St. Aldate's Church-yard, Oxford, on Robert King Dell, who was unfortunately drowned near Chriſt Church Meadow, in June, 1792, aged 14 years, 384. a ſong, 406. gleanings, 407. thought in a garden, ibid. on the death of the Rev. and pious Mr. Kinſman, of Plymouth, 431. hymn on the faſt, by G. Dyer, B. A. ibid. hymn to Cynthia, by Ben Jonſon, 432. Dartmouth Bound Stone Day, 454. ſpring, by P. Baſtow, of Buckfaſtleigh, 456. epitaph intended for a monument about to be erected in the pariſh church of Cornwood, to the memory of the late Thomas Vivian, who was vicar of that pariſh from 1747 to March 17, 1793, on which day he died, generally lamented, 478. a paſtoral, addreſſed to Chloe, by Wm. Cory, Waſhford, Somerſet, 479. the wandering gypſey, a ballad, written by Peter Pindar, and delivered by a lovely ruſtic to the company at the laſt Ranelagh maſquerade, ibid. a ſonnet, addreſſed to the moon, by Furze Stub, of Long Moor, 480. on Mrs. Melliar's garden at Caſtle-Cary, ibid. the wiſh, by Mr. Merrick, 502. written on the grave of a beggar, 503. the pyramids of Egypt, by Mr. Hole, 504. ode to ſpring, 526. lines ſuppoſed to be written by the late celebrated and ingenious Mr. Sterne, on his reviſiting, at an advanced period of his life, the houſe of a gentleman to whoſe daughter, in his early days, he had paid his addreſſes, 527. from the Chineſe, 528. the Emigrant, written by a lady in the month of November laſt, before the murder of Louis XVI. 549. ode for the King's birth-day, by H. J. Pye, Poet Laureat to his Majeſty, 550. lines to a friend, 552. ode to innocence, from Peter Pindar's humourous epiſtle to the Pope, 575. ſonnet, by Dr. Sayers, 576. lines on the much-lamented death of Mr. W. Evill, of Bath, a worthy and much reſpected character, 576.

epigram,

epigram, ibid. lines written on contemplating the period of all human glory among the tombs in Weſtminſter Abbey, by Mrs. Nath. Stickland, 598. the ivy, ibid. epitaph on the death of J. Ayton Thompſon, by A. Murphy, 600. to a lady, obſerving that the writer had a faded roſe, ibid. Village politics, addreſſed to all the mechanics, journeymen, and labourers, in Great Britain, in a dialogue between Jack Anvil the blackſmith, and Tom Hod the maſon, 121, 141.

W.

Wagers, on, 489, 521.

Wilkes, Mr. Alderman, ſubſtance of his ſpeech to the inhabitants of the ward of Farringdon Without, in London, at St. Sepulchre's church, December 14, 1792, who were aſſembled to declare their attachment to the conſtitution, 529.

Wilſon, Gavin, character of, and of his uſeful inventions, 448.

Wyvil, Rev. C. his reaſons for diſapproving the war with France, 395, 415.

Z.

Zulbar, an Indian tale, by M. Florian, 300, 313, 337.